Wrong Body, Right Soul

A.N this is a poem I wrote for the Dragonstone Epics by UnknownBlackHand it's in the third story and she featured it and a character to recite it based off of me in the story. I thought I would post it here for yall and also tell you to read her stories and Shadows reviews. **

DOWN WITH THE PEARS

-Yurika

Pale shined the moonlit night

A monster's breath did delight

He fought his way through the trees

Wrong body, right soul

The fire blade did not cut

For death and pain were not wrought

His aim was not to kill

Wrong body, right soul

Sacrifice for the loved ones

Sacrifice for the innocents

Sacrifice for trapped ones

Wrong body, right soul

Soul of a Dragon

Trapped in a human

Soul of the humble

Trapped in a leader

Right soul, right man
